Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kralik in view of Ou (5,759,123). Regarding claims 1 and 3, Ou reveals an American football including a panel formed from rubber and fabric lining. The lining and rubber are vulcanized together to form the panel. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to replace the ethylene vinyl acetate sheet of Kralik with a rubber sheet in order to take advantage of rubber's well known physical characteristics.

Regarding claim 2, Kralik provides a backing (16) of foaming material. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to form the cover of Kralik from synthetic leather in order to take advantage of synthetic leather's well known physical characteristics.

Regarding claim 4, the claim is a product by process claim wherein the patentability of the product does not depend on its method of production. See MPEP 2113.

Regarding claims 5-8, Kralik provides fabric linings (24, 28) on both sides of the sheet material (26).

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to the rejection of claims 1-8 under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Kralik have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection has been withdrawn.

3. The rejection of claims 1-8 over Kralik in view of Ou has been maintained. The reference to Ou teaches that panels of fabric lining and rubber compressed and vulcanized together are well known in the art of footballs. To replace the ethylene vinyl acetate sheet of Kralik with a rubber sheet would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in order to take advantage of that material's well known physical characteristics and for the reasons advanced by Ou. The applicant names particular deficiencies of Kralik such as the lack of a rubber sheet and compressing and vulcanizing the rubber sheet with the fabric lining, however, these deficiencies are solved by the secondary reference to Ou.

4. In response to applicant's argument that the examiner's conclusion of obviousness is based upon improper hindsight reasoning, it must be recognized that any judgment on obviousness is in a sense necessarily a reconstruction based upon hindsight reasoning. But so long as it takes into account only knowledge which was within the level of ordinary skill at the time the claimed invention was made, and does not include knowledge gleaned only from the applicant's disclosure, such a reconstruction is proper. See In re McLaughlin, 443 F.2d 1392, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971).

Conclusion

5. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 3711

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
